Health Insurance for the Aged: Amounts Reimbursed, by State and County, July 1966-December 1967

ON JULY 1, 1966, some 19 million people aged 65 and over became eligible for health insurance benefits under Title XVIII of the Social Security Act, a part of the 1965 amendments (Public Law 89-97) enacted on July 30, 1965. Commonly called Medicare, the health insurance program for the aged made available two separate but coordinated coverages—hospital insurance (HI) covering virtually all persons aged 65 and over, and supplementary medical insurance (SMI), covering those persons in this age group who enroll voluntarily and pay the required premiums.

This report presents enrollment and reimbursement data by State and county (and other pertinent jurisdictions) in HI, SMI, and combined categories for the first 18 months of Medicare, July 1, 1966 through December 31, 1967. The reimbursement figures represent amounts paid to, or on behalf of, insured persons during this period. Legal provisions of both parts of the program, the sources and limitations of the data, and definitions of the terms used in this report are given below.

Changes in the program incorporated in the 1967 amendments to the Social Security Act (Public Law 90-248) are not reflected in these data since they did not become effective until after the period to which this report relates.

Amounts reimbursed during the July 1966-December 1967 period, as shown in the tables, are based on information entered in Social Security Administration records through May 9, 1968 and are listed according to the beneficiary's county of residence. Only payments for covered services provided to enrollees are included in the amounts reimbursed; costs of administration, as well as deductibles, copayment amounts, and noncovered services specified by law, are excluded. Reimbursements under SMI to group practice prepayment plans dealing directly with SSA are also excluded, even though the enrollment figures include about 225,000 persons who are members of such plans.

During the July 1966-December 1967 period, a monthly premium of $3 was paid by, or in behalf of, each SMI enrollee. This amount was matched by the Federal Government from general revenues, for a total of $6 per month. Through December 1967, the average per capita reimbursement under the program was $4.06 per month (derived from table 1) and per capita administrative expenses were estimated at $0.51, resulting in a total expense of $4.57 per month. The difference between the $6 total amount and the $4.57 average per capita monthly reimbursement can be explained primarily by the fact that some hospital and medical bills for services provided during the period had not yet been paid or recorded as of the summary date. Considerable delays occur in the submission of bills because many persons tend to retain them for a long period before submitting them for reimbursement. Additional time is required by intermediaries and carriers to adjudicate and pay claims and to transmit this information to the Social Security Administration.

The enrollment figures shown in the tables include those persons enrolled as of April 1, 1967, the midpoint for the period July 1, 1966-December 31, 1967, and are based on information entered in SSA records through the end of that period. However, the data include additions of those individuals eligible for HI benefits with entitlement retroactive from December 31, 1967 to, or before, April 1, 1967 and deletions from the file of those enrollees whose death occurred before April 1, 1967 if such information was known before the summary was made.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Health Insurance for the Aged: The program commonly known as Medicare, which pays part of the costs of hospital and medical services used by covered persons aged 65 and over.

Hospital Insurance (HI): The portion of the health insurance program that pays a large part of the cost of inpatient hospital care, post-hospital extended care, home health service visits, and outpatient hospital diagnostic services. Hospital insurance pays for up to 90 days of hospitalization per benefit period. (Previously called a "spell of illness," the benefit period begins with the first day of hospitalization and ends 60 days after discharge from the hospital or extended care facility.) Payment is subject to the hospital's participation in the Medicare program, a deductible of $40, and a copayment of $10 per day for the 61st through 90th days of hospitalization per benefit period. Inpatient services in a tuberculosis or psychiatric hospital are included, with a lifetime limit of 190 days of covered services in psychiatric hospitals.

Hospital insurance also pays for all covered services in participating extended care facilities (ECF) for the first 20 days of such care per benefit period, following discharge from a hospital after a stay of 3 days or more, and within 14 days of discharge. The program pays for as many as 80 additional days in the ECF in the same benefit period, subject to a coinsurance payment of $5 a day. Up to 100 home health service visits provided by participating home health agencies are covered in the 12-month period following discharge from a participating hospital or extended care facility. Home health services must follow a stay in a hospital of at least 3 consecutive days, and a home health plan must be established by the attending physician within 14 days after discharge from the participating hospital or extended care facility.

Supplementary Medical Insurance (SMI): The part of the program that provides payment for physicians' services, including home and office visits; up to 100 home health service visits per calendar year without prior hospitalization; outpatient hospital therapeutic services; diagnostic X-rays and laboratory tests; radiation therapy; prosthetic devices; rental of durable medical equipment; ambulance services; and surgical dressings, splints, casts, and similar devices. After the beneficiary has paid the first $50, SMI pays for 80 percent of the allowed charges for covered services during the calendar year. Expenses incurred in the last quarter of a calendar year and applied to that year's deductible may also be applied to the deductible in the following calendar year.

Area of Residence: The address to which the individual's monthly cash benefit check is being mailed. For persons not receiving such benefits, the mailing address given at the time they applied for health insurance benefits is used. Temporary or permanent changes of residence are reflected in the data to the extent that such changes are reported to the SSA by enrollees. The areas of residence include the 50 States, the District of Columbia, American Samoa, Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. Also included are several foreign countries, although health insurance benefits ordinarily may not be paid for items or services furnished outside the named jurisdictions of the United States. Individuals with a foreign address for whom reimbursements are recorded may represent persons for whom the current U.S. address has not yet been entered into the file or who were living in the United States when they received the covered medical services for which reimbursement was made.

The primary divisions of the 50 States are, in general, counties. In Louisiana, however, these divisions are known as parishes. Alaska is divided into 21 economic areas, included here as the equivalent of counties. A number of cities that are independent of county organizations are reported separately in Maryland, Missouri, and Virginia. In Virginia, data are not shown separately for Lexington, which became independent of Rockbridge County on January 1, 1966, and Emporia, which became independent of Greenville County on July 31, 1967. The divisions in Puerto Rico are called municipios. County data are not reported for Guam or the Virgin Islands.

Some addresses given by enrollees do not permit identification of county of residence; these are reported as "unknown" county.

Entitlement to Hospital Insurance.—Nearly all persons aged 65 and over on July 1, 1966 were eligible for hospital insurance benefits. Automatically covered were all persons aged 65 and over who filed applications and established eligibility for monthly social security benefits and those qualified for monthly railroad retirement benefits who were certified to the Social Security Administration by the Railroad Retirement Board. Other persons could establish entitlement if they were 65 years of age or over, U.S. citizens (or aliens lawfully admitted for permanent residence in the United States who had resided in this country continuously for the preceding 5-year period), had filed an application under the transitional provision for health insurance protection, had met certain other requirements relating to the Internal Security Act of 1950 as amended, and had not been convicted of certain specified crimes against the security of the United States. Federal Government employees, active or retired, who were covered or could have been covered under the provisions of the Federal Employees Health Benefit Act of 1959, were not entitled to enroll for HI coverage under the transitional provision, but could obtain SMI protection by paying the required premiums.

An eligible person is entitled to hospital insurance benefits beginning with the first day of the month in which he becomes 65 years of age. Hospital insurance protection may be retroactive for up to 12 months before the month in which an individual files an application, provided all other conditions for entitlement were met during that period.

Enrollment for Supplementary Medical Insurance.—All persons entitled to HI benefits and retired Federal employees who are not entitled to those benefits may voluntarily obtain SMI coverage. A person who chooses to participate must pay a monthly premium, which is matched by an amount paid to the Supplementary Medical Insurance Trust Fund by the Federal Government from general revenues. The law permits the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare to adjust the premium if medical costs rise. During the period covered by this report, this monthly premium was $3.

Individuals may enroll in the SMI plan only during two periods—the initial and general enrollment periods. The initial enrollment period is 7 months in duration, beginning 3 months before and ending 3 months after the month in which the individual becomes 65 years of age. The general enrollment period is for those who fail to enroll during their initial enrollment period. Individuals who had attained age 65 before the Medicare program went into effect were enrolled during the first general enrollment period, which ran from September 1, 1965 through May 31, 1966. The next general enrollment period ran from October 1, 1967 through March 31, 1968.

The premium for persons receiving cash retirement benefits from social security or railroad retirement is deducted from their monthly checks. These people may terminate their coverage only during a general enrollment period. Other enrollees send premium payments directly to the Social Security Administration and are provided a 90-day grace period for the payment of overdue premiums, after which coverage is automatically terminated.

Enrollment in Hospital and/or Supplementary Medical Insurance: All persons aged 65 and over who enrolled under hospital insurance and/or supplementary medical insurance. This total is larger than the total for hospital insurance since a person may be enrolled for medical insurance but not for hospital insurance.
